Call for Nominations to the Amusement Devices Advisory Council

Notice: Parties having an interest and expertise in the Amusement Device industry

The Technical Standards and Safety Authority (TSSA) actively solicits the advice and input of key stakeholders from the respective industries that it regulates through a number of industry specific advisory councils. The advisory councils are invited to work with TSSA in support of safety initiatives and general enhancements in service delivery within their respective industries.

The Amusement Devices Advisory Council was established to provide a forum through which TSSA can consult with industry relative to its safety strategies and receive valuable input and advice to help guide TSSA's decision making and operations. This structure provides:

- a communication channel through which their safety concerns can be voiced;
- a means to support and advise TSSA with respect to continuous improvement of its services;
- a valuable resource through which to solicit industry input and advice; and
- a mechanism to facilitate communication back to industry at large.

The Amusement Devices Advisory Council is seeking nominations from an Owner/Operator of Go Karts to represent this stakeholder group.

A description of the Council mandate and structure as found in the Council Terms of Reference is posted on the TSSA website:
